Entry-level developer/Help Desk coordinator (REMOTE)

CareHubs, Inc. - Minneapolis, MN

Other

Desired:

JavaScript MySQL WordPress PHP AWS

 Please note that this is a remote working/telecommute position ******

Job Description:

CareHubs is an enterprise software-as-a-service company focused on the healthcare industry. We are seeking a skilled problem solver to join our team. You will work with clients, customer success managers, and the development team to create code and coordinate support for world-class technology used by many of the world's leading healthcare organizations.

Skills & Requirements:

We are looking to fill a hybrid Junior Developer/Help Desk Coordinator role.

From a help desk standpoint, you will be the first line interacting with our customers. From troubleshooting their inquiries to testing and coordinating amongst the team, you will be extremely important to the day-to-day success and happiness of customers. Attention to detail, ability to problem-solve with little guidance, and a friendly client-and-company best interest approach are critical to be successful in this role.

In addition to coordinating the help desk, you will also be working on and contributing development to projects that we are currently working on. Our stack includes PHP, MySQL, and Javascript and runs on a highly available cluster in AWS. Experience with Wordpress as a CMS is also a plus. That said, we are less concerned about specific expertise with these technologies than we are with finding someone with an entrepreneurial mindset that is willing to put their all into learning. There is huge room for growth within the company, so a motivated individual will have the ability to advance their role and position within CareHubs very quickly.

Why Us:

- Competitive compensation and benefits.
- Our entire team works remotely. We don't have an office, so you can work from wherever you choose.
- Startup & startup culture. Move fast with exciting and rewarding projects. You & your skillset will to continue to grow.
- Flexible schedule.
- Small and nimble team following agile development principles. No waterfalls here : -)
- Creativity encouraged. We love supporting & growing new product ideas.
- We're all friends, so you'll enjoy the people and environment.

Next Steps:

Reply to the job listing!

Given a high volume of applicants and the fact that CareHubs is a small startup, we ask that you also help us expedite the screening process by completing this form:
